COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

TUESDAY EVENING, OCT. 27.

CONSOLS in London yesterday were unchanged at 100⅜, but Indian securities exhibited considerable fluctuations, the 3½ per cent. Sterling Loan being ⅛ higher at 102¼, while Rupee Paper was ⅛ lower in Fours, ⅛ in Fours-and-a-half.

In the London Produce markets no changes of importance are registered. Seeds and Wheat remain practically unaltered. At the Sikin sales sheep skins are reported to be meeting a good demand. For good qualities of Madras an advance of 1d. has been obtained, but common Bombay kinds are ½d. to 1d. per lb. lower.

The Liverpool Cotton market continues to weaken down. On the spot yesterday the sales were 8,000 bales, including 700 Surats, prices unchanged, but Americans to arrive were 1-64d. to 1-32d. easier. In New York, too, ready Cotton was 1-16 cent., futures 6 points lower, large receipts at the ports for the two days being evidently the depressing influence. The following are the figures to date:—

	1885.	1884.	1883.
Two days' receipts ..	64,000	55,000	51,000
Three days'	101,000	84,000	83,000
Total since 1st September	..1,219,000	1,242,000	1,302,000

Private advices from home continue wanting in any incentive to export business, and there has consequently been a total absence of buying on the part of European firms to-day. We hear of some Good Omras having changed hands between dealers on speculation at Rs. 188 per candy for January-February and some Fully Good Bengal late yesterday at Rs. 164 for January, but these transactions are quite exceptional. Broach could be bought at Rs. 214 for Good, possibly a shade better, but there are no buyers.

WHEAT is dull, with very little new business passing. We still quote No. 1 Soft White Rs. 3-14 to Rs. 4; No. 1 Club Delhi, Rs. 3-11-3 per cwt.

LINSEED is quieter, and new crop for April-May delivery is now obtainable at Rs. 6 per cwt.

FREIGHTS.—An exceedingly quiet feeling has prevailed to-day, and the engagements reported have been quite insignificant in extent. A steamer is reported to have been fixed for December loading at 24s. 6d. open charter, which, if correct, marks a slight giving way, but it requires confirmation. We call the current market rates as follows:—

	Ready.	Forward.
Liverpool	21-3 to 22-6	22-6
London	21-3 to 22-6	22-6
Continent
Open Charter	24 to 25	23-9 to 25
Havre
Dunkirk
Antwerp
Marseilles	28-6
Trieste Venice	20 to 21-3 at 2s.

EXCHANGE.—We have had another very quiet day in sterling, with the banks mostly willing buyers, but few private bills offering. Bank paper is obtainable at yesterday's quotations, but for Credits we quote a decline of 1-32d., both ready and forward. Up to the end of the year 1s. 6⅝d. has been freely offered, and business is said to have been done for May delivery at 1s. 6 17-32d. per rupee. We quote:—

	per rupee.
Bank Bills on demand	1s 6 5-32d.
Do. Telegraphic	1s 6⅝d.
Do. Three months' sight.	1s. 6 7-32d.
Credits	1s. 6 11-32d.
Francs	1 91.

GOVERNMENT PAPER has been decidedly weaker under the influence of the reduced prices from London. Fours ready have receded to Rs. 97 7-16, and for delivery up to the end of November at Rs. 97½. Fours-and-a-half are quite nominal at Rs. 99.

SHARES.—The whole tone of the market is dull and averse to speculation. As a rule, Spinning Mills are unchanged in value, but City are Rs. 5, Dhurrumseys Rs. 2½ lower, while Jewraz Balloo are Rs. 5, Manockjee Petit Rs. 2½ higher. Bombay-Burmas are talked of as shares coming again at Rs. 3,725 for first issue. Bank of Bombays are weak at Rs. 720, the ostensible cause of the decline being a report that the working of the Government Savings Bank is to be removed from the care of the bank.

SIGHT SAVING GLASSES.
MR. FRANK L. McAFEE, Supdt., Irish Presbyterian High School, Ahmedabad, writes:—It is now nearly four months since I received the two pairs of glasses you supplied me with, and I have during this time found them of so much service in enabling me to bear and overcome the strain upon my eyes from work by lamp light, that I feel considerable regret I did not sooner apply to you for help. It is no more than is your due, that I should add that before I applied to you I had already tried two firms of opticians. Their spectacles afforded me a certain amount of ease and comfort; but in neither case was the benefit I derived from the use of their glasses at all comparable with that which I have already had from using yours.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1885.

THE report that a deputation has arrived at Merv from Maimenah, complaining of Afghan oppression and soliciting Russian intervention need occasion neither distrust nor surprise It quite tallies with information which we gave a few days ago, and is probably little more than a Teheran version, with one important addition, of news which reached us from another source. It is known beyond doubt that the Russians have done their best in an unobtrusive, occult way to entice the Ameer from his allegiance to the British Government, and failing in this, nothing could be more characteristic than a recourse to familiar methods of persuading the people of the Afghan borderland that they are not quite as happy under the Ameer as they would be under the rule of the Czar. And it is not less characteristic of Russian methods of advance that the propaganda has been carried on in a district far removed from the scene of recent disturbance and from the lands which have been the subject of recent controversy. Maimenah, whence the deputation is said to have gone to Merv, lies at least a hundred and fifty miles eastward of the Murghab, and lies well within that portion of the boundary line between Afghanistan and Turkestan upon which the English and Russian Governments have been in explicit agreement, and which has not thus far been in any degree a subject of controversy. It lies northward of the great mountain range—the Tir-band-i-Turkestan mountains—and is the centre of a district towards which the Turcomans must look wistfully from their less favoured deserts. It would be easy, therefore, for Russian officers to represent to St. Petersburg the advantage of a modification of the frontier line in this direction—such a modification, for instance, as would make the mountain range running south of Maimenah the political as well as the natural boundary of Afghanistan on the north. The only subject for astonishment is that the move should have been made quite so early. The Boundary Commissioners are preparing for their work, and if the Russian Government wish to make a show of loyally going forward with the work of delimitation they should have postponed for a few months giving encouragement to movements which will obliterate the line about to be laid down. It would be interesting to learn what reception has been given at Merv to these aspirants to the blessings of incorporation into the Asiatic Empire of the Czar. If the famous principle of Russian aggrandisement laid down in Prince Gortschakoff's circular is acted upon, the deputation from Maimenah must have been sent home with encouraging words. The experience of Merv itself would testify to them what is the natural result of laying before the Czar's Proconsuls a request for annexation. They will choose their time and their method, but they are scarcely likely to need to be asked a second time to relieve Maimenah and the comparatively well-favoured lands around it from the depressing yoke of Afghan rule.

THE new Bombay Municipal Act Amendment Bill was issued yesterday, with a view to public discussion of its provisions. We republish in another column a Statement of Objects and Reasons drawn up by Mr. J. R. Naylor, the Legal Remembrancer, who has drafted the Bill in consultation with Mr. Ollivant, the Municipal Commissioner. The statement is clear and skilful and is of unusual length for such compositions. In this latter respect it is in harmony with the drafted Bill, which is of portentous amplitude, numbering four hundred and eighty-eight sections, which are regimented into twenty chapters, and amplified by alphabetical sub-sections which swell the volume. If the Bill be passed in its present form, the study of it will ensure due proficiency in the art and mystery of local self-government. Mr. Naylor apologises for the length of the new Municipal code by explaining that there have been hitherto nine separate enactments dealing with matters affecting municipal government in the city, and that the want of a consolidated Act has long been felt. The simplicity and convenience of such a compilation would have been enhanced, perhaps, had provisions for mere details been left to byelaws, instead of being set out at unnecessary length as in this draft. Brevity appears to have been carefully avoided. It is to be feared that the over-particularity which has been the result, will discourage a resort to the Act by any but professional students. In other respects the Bill is well conceived, and is fashioned according to logical sequence. The first chapter is preliminary, defines the scope of the Bill, and defines the sense in which street, drain, nuisance, and other terms are used. The second chapter is devoted to the constitution of the Municipality, which is in many respects different from that under which the city has been governed hitherto. The third chapter defines the duties and the powers of the Municipal authorities to be created by chapter two. Mr. Naylor states that the primary object of the Bill is twofold; first, to consolidate the existing Municipal law, and secondly, to recast and to amend and expand its provisions in harmony with the requirements of so large and so important a city as Bombay of the present time. It may be said generally that the second and third chapters are those to which the recasting and amending and expanding contemplated in the Bill have been effected, while the other chapters are mainly given over to the work of consolidating the existing law.

Whatever controversy may arise in regard to the Bill as drafted, will probably be confined to certain of the innovations provided for in the second and third chapters. The Government draftsman declares that it was part of his task to revise the Municipal Constitution. Whether the revision proposed would in all respects effect an improvement will, no doubt, give rise to differences of opinion. It is to be noted that the proposals submitted to Government by the Corporation itself have been, except in one point, providing for the election of the Chairman to the Town Council—or rather the standing committee which is to replace that body—quietly ignored. The changes set forth in the draft Bill were suggested to the Corporation, but were not regarded with favour, or recommended in the report of the Committee which was submitted to the Corporation in 1883 after a careful examination of the subject. It is worth observing that the Corporation itself, though quite ready to improve the municipal machinery in the liberal spirit which found expression in Lord Ripon's Local Self-Government Resolution, was particularly careful to avoid any change might might be calculated to jeopardise the practical efficiency of the municipal machinery which had stood the test of experience and worked on the whole satisfactorily, gaining the confidence alike of the Government and the public. It was understood that the measure of practical success which had been attained by the Bombay Municipality had arrested the attention of the then Viceroy upon his arrival in the country, and suggested the possibility of developing an analogous system of local self-government throughout India. Even the more advanced reformers in the Municipality fully realised the nature of the responsibility which devolved upon them, and while naturally desirous to enhance the privileges and improve the machinery of the Municipality, they showed remarkable prudence in abstaining from proposing any change which might have the effect of bringing self-government in Bombay into the difficulties which have attended the experiment in Calcutta. They declined to accede to the offer of self-immolation made by Mr. Ollivant, the Municipal Commissioner. He proposed to efface himself and place the executive authority in the hands of committees, of which he should simply be the chairman. They preferred that the executive duties should still be carried out by a responsible officer under the general control of the Corporation and the special supervision of the Town Council. On another point they were equally desirous of avoiding a danger which had proved injurious to the Calcutta Municipality. Recognising the necessity of increasing the number of representatives to be chosen by the ratepayers, they proposed an addition of the elected members; but to maintain a balance on the part of the representatives of the educated and leading classes, they proposed to give eight seats to be divided between the representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, the University, and the Port Trust. The policy of this measure was not impaired by the fact that the sixty-four members, when originally const

THE BHOPAL STATE.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

BHOPAL, OCT. 27.

Serious complaints of misgovernment and tyranny in the Bhopal State having been for some time made, full and careful inquiries were recently instituted, which showed the truth of the complaints, and that the acts complained of were due to the evil influence of the Nawab-consort, Mahomed Sadik Hosein, who had usurped full authority in the State, putting aside the responsible ministers, and filling all offices with his own adherents. The matter was referred by Sir Lepel Griffin to the Government of India, who, after reference to the Secretary of State, decided that Sadik Hosein should be deprived of the title of Nawab, conferred on him by the Government, and of his salute of seventeen guns in British territory. Further, that he should be excluded from all interference, direct or indirect, in the affairs of the State, and warned that any such interference will entail the most serious consequences to him. The Begum is required to appoint a responsible minister, who must be approved by the Government of India.

These orders were formally communicated yesterday to Her Highness, in the presence of Sadik Hosein, in open durbar, by Sir Lepel Griffin.

The unpopularity of the Nawab-consort in Bhopal is extreme, both among Mahomedans and Hindus, and the orders of Government have been received with the utmost satisfaction by all classes.

The Begum expressed her unreserved acceptance of the orders of Government.

His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, with Sir Thomas Baker and Captain Turner, A.D.C., left Simla on Saturday morning. The guard-of-honour of the Simla Volunteers, under Lieutenant-Colonel Walker, cheered Sir Donald Stewart as he was leaving. His Excellency pays a visit to Mr. Halsey's mills at Dhariwal, and then goes on straight to Beluchistan. Lady Stewart and family left Simla a few hours later for Bombay.

Colonel Lockhart is reported to be getting on admirably with the people in Chitral, who continue to show marked friendliness to his party.

News from Jedda states that the Haj season ended without cholera or other epidemic disease. The public health up to the end of September was most satisfactory. Pilgrims had begun to arrive at Jedda from Mecca for embarkation.

The Pioneer writes:—The Hon. Mr. Oldfield's resignation of the Indian Civil Service and its subsequent cancelment, after having been gazetted, has naturally created considerable speculation. According to that, Mr. Oldfield, who meditated employment at home, had simply been "off with the old love before he was on with the new," with the not unusual consequences; and, again, he had yielded to friendly pressure and consented to return to the High Court Bench in order to keep some one else out. The first-named explanation seems the more probable and the more preferable one; moreover, it has the advantage of squaring with the facts.

Sir Frederick Roberts has promised to pay a visit to the 92nd Gordon Highlanders at Devonport, one of the regiments which served under him in Afghanistan.

The following notification is published by Government of India in the Public Works Department:—The first period of the contract with the Sind, Punjab, and Delhi Railway Company being about to elapse, it is hereby notified that the State will assume charge of the railway on the morning of 1st January, 1886. From that date the railway will be removed from under the control of the Consulting Engineer for Guaranteed Railways at Lahore and placed under that of the Director-General of Railways. The following open lines of railway, viz., Sind, Punjab, and Delhi, Punjab Northern, Indus Valley, Sind-Sagar Railway, Eastern section, and Sind-Pishin Railway, Southern section, will be amalgamated on the 1st January and worked as one imperial system under the name of the North-Western State Railway with headquarters at Lahore. The following appointments are made to the new railway:—Manager, Colonel Conway-Gordon; Deputy Managers, Mr. Lightfoot and Major Brackenbury; Chief Engineer, Mr. Hallett; Superintending Engineer, Mr. Storey; Traffic Superintendent, Mr. U. Broughton; Deputy Traffic Superintendents, Mr. J. M. Rutherford and Mr. David Ross; Locomotive Superintendent, Mr. Sandiford; Deputy Locomotive Superintendents, Messrs. Fergusson and Hughes; Examiner of Accounts Mr. R. K. Williams; and Chief Storekeeper Mr. Hiley. Major Boughey becomes Manager of the Eastern Bengal State Railway, vice Colonel Conway-Gordon.

Fortunately for him Mr. Grant Duff is not a sensitive man, otherwise the remarks and criticisms of the Madras press would seriously ruffle his susceptibilities. He has no sooner returned from his pleasant little trip to the abode of snows, than the Madras Times wants to know who is to pay the cost of his holiday. "It may not be expedient," the "local paper" remarks, "that the present Governor's real business at Simla should be declared just now. But the object of the journey should not be kept hid from the taxpayers a moment longer than can be helped. For if Mr. Grant Duff is, or can affect to be, indifferent to popular praise or blame; neither we nor any of the permanent population of the country, can be indifferent to any measure or extent of discontent and disaffection being fostered by a too long concealment of facts that would dispel it." The Madrasees hardly show the respect due to their Governor. They are not happy when he is amongst them, and when he leaves them for a few days they make disrespectful inquiries.

Lord Randolph Churchill was in Dublin when the last mail left. The Dublin City and County Conservative Club invited him to dinner previous to his return to England. It is stated that the object of his visit was to ascertain for himself the state of the country, in view of the coming meeting of the Cabinet. The Irish landlords are, strange to say, labouring to discredit the Conservative Government with a view to bringing in again the Gladstone Cabinet which passed the Land Act. They are busy supplying the London papers with stories of outrages, said to be grossly exaggerated, with a view to a reversion to the coercion policy abandoned by the Conservatives. The landlords wrote a letter in which it was stated that the only hope for the landlord party was the securing of a strong Liberal majority in England at the next election. This is a remarkable state of feeling on the part of the Irish landlords, and Mr. Healy comforts them by saying in a speech, that, if Mr. Gladstone scourged them before with whips, next time he came in he would scourge them with scorpions. A democratic majority in England would, he averred, have no mercy for Irish landlords. It would in the first instance, according to the declaration in Mr. Gladstone's manifesto, insist on reform of the House of Lords; and once they took away from the House of Lords its veto on Liberal legislation, there was no reform which it would not be possible for the Irish party to ask with a Liberal party in power.

Engines of war are short-lived nowadays. Three years ago no praise was too high for the machine-guns which had brought to a close the bombardment of the forts of Alexandria by driving the gunners from the guns they were serving. Now those same guns of Mr. Nordenfeldt's invention are pronounced obsolete, and no longer fulfilling the necessary requirements. Recent experiments carried out in Weymouth Bay by the Polyphemus against dummy torpedo-boats have shown that the quick-firing gun manufactured by Messrs. Hotchkiss is the only one at present whose results are satisfactory.

The desire of the Chinese to have their remains taken home to China is strikingly shown in a despatch from San Francisco. It appears on a recent date the coroner for San Francisco forced an entrance into a cellar in Pacific-street. His visit was occasioned by a complaint which had been made of the emission of fearful stench from the place. On getting inside, the coroner found the floor covered with human skeletons, partially covered with flesh and in an advanced state of decomposition. In an inner room a number of Chinamen were found engaged in boiling the remains of other bodies, whilst several Chinamen were scraping the boiled bones, and packing them into cases for shipment to China. The bodies were those of Chinese, it was estimated that the cellar contained not less than 300 bodies, which had been taken secretly from various cemeteries throughout the State. The stench was something awful, and the Chinamen in their endeavour to hide their horrible occupation, had procured two skunks, so that the odour of the latter might overpower the smell from the bodies. The coroner took charge of the remains.

Mr. G. A. Sala writes to Mr. Labouchere, under date of August 26, that he has just returned to Melbourne from a triumphant tour in South Australia, and that, after a fortnight's holiday, he is off to Tasmania and New Zealand.

"I have made," he adds, "a pot of money. While we are in this part of the world we may as well have a trot through India, and up to Hong-Kong and Shanghai. We go to India by way of Northern Queensland and inside the great barrier reef to Batavia, and so to Singapore, and hence from Calcutta viâ Ceylon, and through the Canal in a 'P. & O.,' and we shall be back at Christmas. Genevieve Ward has made £10,000 out here. Boucicault is doing tremendous business. Everybody laughs at Howard Vincent's Australian utterances. A small clique in Melbourne, members of a gang of cads calling themselves a club, enraged at my having been prevented by an attack of bronchitis from dining with them, have been industriously circulating rumours all over the colonies that I could not lecture, that I was inaudible, and that my lectures had been a financial failure. It is just as likely as not that some of these lies may have reached London, and have furnished a paragraph to the gutter-blood-press; so, if so, please contradict it. If at the General Election any borough wants a sound, hardworking, advanced Liberal candidate, they might turn their attention to me. I have worked for the Liberal cause for thirty years."

A Liverpool correspondent relates the following amusing incident as having occurred in connection with the Liverpool Art Exhibition:—An artist of known ability sent some time back several of his best works for hanging at this exhibition. They were rejected. He sent another the next year. It was called "Art Critics," and represented an artist painting a landscape. Two or three donkeys which had been grazing in the field were standing behind the artist, looking intently at his work. The picture was hung—the selectors not discerning that the proper title for the work was meant to be the Artist's Revenge."

"Truth" writes:—As there is an off-chance of the trouble in Roumelia leading to difficulties with Russia, the Duke of Edinburgh may even now be disappointed in connection with the Mediterranean command. Lord John Hay has been kept on long after the expiration of his term, merely in order to keep the appointment open till it suits the Duke to take it; but if there be another hitch, I hope that there will be no more of this sort of thing, which is very unfair to other Admirals. Sir William Hewett has by far the strongest claim upon the Admiralty, by whom he has been very badly treated.

Next month Professor Tyndall will complete an act of rare munificence. Thirteen years ago he visited the United States, and delivered a series of lectures in New York, Philadelphia, Washington, and Boston. A sum of nearly £3,000 was paid over to him as a result of the lectures. The Professor, however, had not designed to lecture for money, and declined to receive any payment. But there was the money, and the question what was to be done with it. Professor Tyndall determined to create a fund for the encouragement of original research in physics in the United States. He vested the money in trustees, and it has since remained in their hands. It has now accumulated till it has more than doubled, amounting at the present time to over £6,000. The Professor has divided this sum into three parts, giving one to Columbia College, one to Harvard University, and one to the University of Pennsylvania. Next month the money will be officially transferred to these institutions.

The Chinese evidently regard their recent convention regarding opium with Great Britain as one of high political importance, for they are treating it with all the ceremony and distinction which nations usually employ in handling treaties of alliance and of peace or war. The treaty itself and the ratifications, which latter were drawn up in London both in the Chinese and English texts, were written on the finest vellum, and bound and lettered in the most gorgeous style. Placed in a magnificent case, the treaty was surrounded with numbers of wraps and boxes, and finally committed to the hands of an official of the Chinese Legation in London, who was specially despatched to Pekin as the bearer of the precious document. As soon as the Emperor has placed his signature to it the messenger will immediately return with it to London, where both copies (for there are two—one to be retained by China, the other by Great Britain) will be signed by the Queen, and in all probability the messenger will then make another journey to Pekin to deposit the Chinese copy in the archives of the Empire. No detail of elaboration and ceremony appears to have been omitted by the Chinese. The messenger is not expected to return to London for another two months at least.

Drowned.—A coroner's inquest was held yesterday at Sion, on the body of a Hindoo woman, name unknown. The deceased was a beggar, living in a dhurrumsala at Sion. She suffered from fever. On Monday she was last seen lying on the pavement of the dhurrumsala tank, and subsequently her dead body was found in the tank. A verdict of accidental death was recorded.

Criminal Breach of Trust.—Jalloo Seeva, a labourer, was yesterday convicted by Mr. Dosabhoy Framjee of criminal breach of trust in respect of seven silver buttons and a silver chain, valued at Rs. 5, belonging to Hurry Narayen. He was sentenced to one week's rigorous imprisonment and to pay a fine of Rs. 10, with the alternative of a further term of ten days' imprisonment.

Fatal Accident.—An inquest was held yesterday at the Colaba Land and Mill Company's premises on the body of Visram Rowjee, aged 20 years. Deceased was a labourer employed at the mill. On Monday at about 3-45 p.m., while working at a baling press, his head was jammed in the machinery, and he was killed on the spot. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, at the same time recommending that certain precautions be taken to obviate future accidents.

Resisting the Police.—Inspector Dillon charged Pestonjee Sorabjee and Nusserwanjee Dadabhoy, shigram drivers, before Mr. Ryan yesterday with having resisted the police in the execution of their duty. The inspector stated that the accused interfered with a victoria driver who was preventing the prisoners taking his carriage. They struck the man, and also turned on a sepoy who ran up to his assistance. Another sepoy, the complainant, seeing his comrade getting roughly handled interfered, but was struck on the head with a stick; and before they could be secured the two policemen suffered considerable ill-treatment at their hands. The accused pleaded that they were drunk, and did not know what they had done. His worship fined them Rs. 7 each, and gave the sepoy Re. 5 out of the fine.

THE CASE OF ACCIDENTAL POISONING IN THE COMMON JAIL.

Vithal Lingo, a hospital assistant, was yesterday charged before Mr. Ryan with committing a rash and negligent act by causing the death of four prisoners in the Common Jail. Mr. Little, Public Prosecutor, appeared for the prosecution; and Mr. Turner defended the accused.

Before going into the case Mr. Little stated that there was some technical difficulty in proceeding with the evidence. He had written to the Surgeon-General, by whom the accused had been appointed, to know whether he was removable from his appointment without the sanction of Government. No reply had as yet been received, but Superintendent Brewin had made personal inquiries, and it appeared that the sanction would not be necessary, and the difficulty was whether the accused could be prosecuted without the sanction of Government.

His worship said he did not think it was necessary to obtain the sanction of Government. The section which ruled the point did not apply to a public servant's private conduct.

Mr. Little said he thought so too, but he had his doubts.

The facts of this case are that on the 20th of September the accused gave five prisoners about four grains of strychnine each, instead of cinchona alkaloid, which had been ordered. Four out of these five prisoners died; the other recovered under the prompt treatment of Dr. Y. Hunter. The evidence of Mr. Mackenzie and Dr. Hunter were taken, and the case was adjourned for a week.

A PAIR OF CLUMSY CHEATS.

Edwin Rogers was charged before Mr. Ryan, at the Fort Police Court, yesterday, with cheating Mr. A. W. Lester, chief clerk, Presidency Magistrate's Court, of two rupees; and Frederick Thompson was charged with an attempt under similar circumstances. The accused presented telegrams supposed to have been sent from Nagpore by officials on the N. and C. S. Railway. The telegrams stated that their applications for employment as guard and fireman had been accepted, and desired them to "come sharp." The messages bore the stamp of the Byculla telegraph office, and were dated the 21st inst. They professed to have come from Mr. J. W. Hartley, Traffic Superintendent N. and C. S. Railway, and from Mr. C. M. Davis, Loco. Superintendent of the same railway. Mr. Lester said that on the 23rd inst. Rogers came into his room and handed him a telegram. He asked for money to pay his railway fare to Nagpore, where he said he had obtained employment as a guard. Witness referred him to Mr. Gordon, Secretary to the European and Eurasian Poor Fund Committee. Rogers said he had been to Mr. Gordon already, had received Rs. 4 from him, and had been referred to Mr. Lester. Suspecting the truth of this statement, witness directed Rogers to get a line from Mr. Gordon. As Rogers objected and made some silly excuse, witness flatly refused to give him any money. Rogers then left, but returned in a few minutes, saying that Mr. Cooper had sent him to witness for the money he required. Witness again refused to give him any money. Subsequently witness received a message from Mr. Cooper, desiring to see him. He went to Mr. Cooper, who showed him a telegram which had been handed to him in court. He told witness that as the accused appeared to be in a hurry to leave by the evening's train, he should be given two rupees. Witness gave him the money. About a minute after Rogers left, Thompson came in, and handed witness a telegram. The similarity of the handwriting on this telegram to the other aroused his suspicion, and he had Rogers brought back. Search was made, and the two men were taken into custody. On being placed before Mr. Cooper, it appeared that the telegrams were forgeries, and that there was not a word of truth in their story. The accused pleaded guilty, begging for mercy. His worship sentenced them to three months' hard labour.

THE NEW MUNICIPAL CONSTITUTION.

The draft of the new Bombay Municipal Act Amendment Bill was issued to the public yesterday. We give the Statement of Objects and Reasons:—

The law which at present regulates the municipal administration of the city of Bombay is contained, principally, in the Bombay Municipal Act of 1872. In the year 1878 an Act was passed to amend the Act of 1872 in several important details, and these two Acts, being read together, are known as the Bombay Municipal Acts of 1872 and 1878. Besides these two principal Acts, there are, in the local statute book, seven minor enactments which deal with matters affecting the municipal government of the city. The law thus distributed in nine separate enactments is difficult to refer to, and the want of a consolidated act has long been felt.

But the executive provisions which find a place in the Act of 1872 were taken, with only slight alterations, from the Bombay Municipal Act of 1865, which that Act superseded, and the later Act embodied, with but little modification, the provisions of two Acts, Nos. XIV. and XXV., passed by the Governor-General in Council in 1856 for the regulation of municipal administration in the three presidency towns. Thus for a period of nearly thirty years the law which governs the executive action of the municipal authorities of the city of Bombay has remained practically unaltered, notwithstanding the immense growth of the city during that time, the many new wants which have arisen, and the constitutional changes which have been introduced.

The principal object of the present Bill is therefore twofold, namely, first to consolidate the existing municipal law, and secondly to recast and to amend and expand its provisions in harmony with the requirements of so large and so important a city as the Bombay of this present time.

A further and not less important object is to revise the municipal constitution. From before the beginning of the century the city has enjoyed the peace for the town and island of Bombay have enjoyed a prominent share in the municipal government of the island. Until the year 1845, the commissioner of petty sessions had the entire superintendence of the expenditure of the municipal revenue. In 1845 a board of conservancy, consisting of seven members, viz., the senior magistrate or his chairman, the collector of Bombay, and two European and three native justices elected by Her Majesty's bench of justices was established, which in 1858 was replaced by three municipal commissioners, one of whom, the president, was appointed by Government, and the other two were elected by Her Majesty's justices of the peace in sessions assembled. But neither of these last-mentioned experiments proved successful, and by the Bombay Municipal Act of 1865 the plan was tried of investing a highly paid sole commissioner, appointed by Government, with full executive authority.

The extensive improvements which have been effected in every branch of Municipal work in the city since the date of the last mentioned Act are so very generally recognised that it is not necessary to dwell upon them. The advantages of centering all authority and responsibility for executive action in an experienced energetic officer have been fully demonstrated, and on this point there is an apparent unanimity of opinion. The municipal corporation constituted by the Municipal Act of 1865, consisting, as it did, of all the justices for the town and island of Bombay, was found to be ill suited to the exercise of adequate control over the actions of the municipal commissioner in their financial bearings, and the measure passed in 1872 had for its object the establishment of such a control.

The number of members of the corporation was limited by this measure to sixty-four, sixteen of whom were to be appointed by Government, sixteen to be elected by Her Majesty's justices, and the rema
